brought to you by

Come to school with your dog...

Caring for your dog goes beyond providing for its basic needs of food, shelter and health care. Just as you would educate a child in the ways of human society, you are your dog's friend and teacher to guide it through its life's journey with you.

Dogs 'speak' dog and humans speak many human languages. When we expect our dog to understand our language without first teaching it what word goes with which behaviour, miscommunication occurs. The result – the dog is labelled "disobedient" or as one with behavioural problems.

Attend class with animal behaviourist and certified dog trainer, Kang Nee, and learn how to read your dog's body language as it tries to communicate with you, and bridge the species gap by communicating back in ways that your dog can understand clearly. Once you understand that your dog's behaviour is in many ways shaped by you, you can take a proactive step towards preventing common behavioural problems before they occur. So let's speak dog, and learn how to nurture a life-long companionship based on mutual trust and clear communication between you and your dog.

Kang Nee has a Ph.D. in Zoology, specialising in the study of Animal Behaviour. She graduated with Honours for her certification as a dog obedience instructor from the Animal Behaviour College, USA. She is a full member of the Association of Pet Dog Trainers (APDT), and has attended dog training conferences in the US to further her skills. Reward-based, positive reinforcement and clicker training are her training methods of choice, and she has assisted in conducting classes in the USA.

Kang Nee collaborates with the SPCA Singapore to design and conduct its Canine Education Programme for dog adopters, staff and volunteers. She provides one-on-one in-home lessons that are tailored to meet the requirements of dogs and their owners.
